General Overview of Arizona Eco Development's North and South Project Annexations First Update: 9/25/18

- Applications received August 3, 2018 – Planning Department received completed applications from Arizona Eco Development for AED North, located on the north end of Prescott near the Prescott Municipal Airport, and AED South, located east of Hwy 89 and south of Hwy 89A.
  - Both AED North and AED South submitted the following:
    - Annexation Application – Once accepted, this will extend the limits of the City of Prescott to include these properties. (Annexation is the process in which property leaves the unincorporated County and becomes part of the City.)
    - Master Plan Hearing Application – A master plan is required as a condition of the City of Prescott Charter for annexations 250 acres and larger. (A Master Plan is a future layout and long-range plan of a development that shows both existing and proposed streets, open spaces, homesites, and other features. Complete Master Plans typically have a map depicting the layout as well as an accompanying narrative that further describes land uses and development characteristics.)
    - Rezoning Application – The properties through the annexation application will be brought into the City with zoning that is equivalent to the current County zoning of the properties. From there, the developer has requested a change to the zoning that will match the development. (Zoning is the term used for designating permitted uses of certain parcels of land. Rezoning is the process of converting a property's current zoning district to another zoning district.)

Staff review of the applications underway – UPDATE: Anticipating planning staff review completion in November. There are other City departments that are reviewing these applications, such as Police, Fire, Recreational Services, the Airport, and Public Works to name a few. These other reviews may take additional time to conduct. City staff takes this stage very seriously. The information gathered during these reviews will be presented to the Planning and Zoning Commission and the City Council for their public hearings.

- Next Steps

- Planning & Zoning Commission Review – UPDATE: This is anticipated to occur in November. Depending on staff review findings, this could push the P&Z Commission meeting out further. Once this goes to P&Z, there is opportunity for several public meetings, depending on the review needs of the Commissioners. (Planning & Zoning Commission’s responsibility in this process is to make recommendations to the City Council regarding: 1) the appropriate City zoning equivalent to the County’s zoning and 2) the appropriateness of the proposed rezoning.)
- Sixty Day Public Comment Period – This period begins once P&Z has made a recommendation determination for consideration by Council. This is a requirement of the City of Prescott Charter (Article I, Section 4b). There will be no official action taken by City Council during the sixty (60) day public comment period.
- Council Review and Determination – Timing of the Council’s review is completely dependent on staff and P&Z reviews. UPDATE: Once P&Z has made a recommendation for Council and the sixty (60) day public comment period has expired, then this matter will be placed on Council’s agenda.
